Deer me, it's Christmas

SANTA'S reindeer dropped into Harlow at the weekend to celebrate the arrival of the festive season at the Harvey Centre shopping mall.

Children had the chance to stroke the animals as they queued up for access to Santa's Grotto before the four-legged visitors went home to Paradise Wildlife Park in Broxbourne to prepare for Christmas Eve.

Five dogs dead as poison fears

AT least five dogs are By LOUISE SASSOON believed to have died from eating rat poison on open ground in Harlow.

The grim toll was revealed as an RSPCA clinic this week reiterated its warning to pet owners to be extra vigilant while walking their animals.

A fox and its cubs have also been found dead and a number of other animals have become ill after going into certain fields understood to be scat-tered with rat pellet.

Trisha Hume, of the RSPCA clinic in The Stow, said as many as five fields have now been contaminated with the deadly poison.

"I would like to know where they are getting it from," she

"I don't know if somebody is doing it because they have been bitten by a dog or don't like dogs off the lead, but it seems too widespread to be an accident.'

The first incident occurred last month when a pet owner reported their dog had become ill after eating poison while

Since then several other residents have approached the Star to report that their animals have either died or have been taken seriously ill after walking in fields around the

Mrs Hume said she was aware of at least five dogs which have now died as a result of suspected poisoning, adding that the problem appears to be getting worse.
"I just don't know why anyone would want to do such a thing," she added.

Fields at the rear of St Mary at Latton Church, in First Avenue, Harlow Common and others near Bush Fair and Tesco at Church Langley are thought to have been contaminated by poison. Harlow Council has stated its workers are not responsible for laying poison in the fields.

A police spokesman asked for anybody who has information about the poisonings to get in touch by calling 0300 333444.

Stow no-go order runs until January

A BAN on troublemakers entering a prob-lem hotspot in Harlow has been extended in a further effort to relieve crime and antisocial behaviour in the area.

Police and council chiefs have been granted extra time on a dispersal order covering The Stow, which came in to force at the beginning of September and will now run until January.

The decision came about after the success of the original order, which enables police and community support officers to move on groups of two or more people who are, or are deemed likely to cause intimidation, distress and alarm to others, and to arrest them if they return within 24 hours.

Shopkeepers who were plagued with anti-social behaviour have welcomed the extension.

Police inspector Andy Bray said he was seeking anti-social behaviour orders on a number of people who have been identified and arrested during the operation.

He pleaded guilty at Ipswich Crown Court on July 20 last year to conspiracy to contravene the Customs and Excise Management Act and was jailed for fiveand-a-half years.

On Friday Lord Justice Moses, Mr

Justice Burnett and Judge Morris QC, sit-ting at London's Criminal Appeal Court, granted him permission to appeal against the sentence

They were told Frost is so badly affected by rheumatoid arthritis that he cannot dress himself without the aid of another prisoner.

The court heard Frost's hands have formed into claw-like hooks because of the condition, which has already forced him to undergo operations to replace his hips and knee joints.

Frost's lawyers said he is in such a pitiful state he needs the help of another inmate each morning to button up his clothes and cannot take part in any prison activities, remaining

Lord Justice Moses, after hearing those submissions, granted him permission to appeal against sentence and adjourned the case for the preparation of new medical and prison reports.

Frost's case will return for a full appeal hearing in due

Meeting will turn spotlight on education

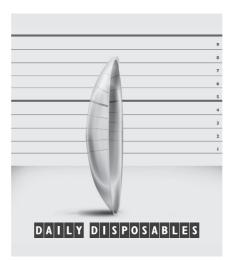

EDUCATION in Harlow will be under the spotlight tomorrow (Friday) at a public meeting to discuss how it can be improved. This year all secondary schools in the town achieved above the Government's target of five or more A-C GCSE or equivalent grades, including English and maths, but school chiefs are keen to build on the success and address areas where services can be further improved. Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who will be at the meeting along with headteachers and Harlow College principal Colin Hindmarch, said: "I am delighted that educational attainment in Harlow has risen in the last 10 years from 28 per cent getting five A*-C GCSEs to 63.5 per cent, but we need to consider new collective measures to improve school performance and the initiatives currently under review. including the Trust proposal and the sixth form partnership, have my full support.

"People in Harlow need an opportunity to be engaged in what is being proposed. It is time for a new strategic initiative to get the very best for our young people in Harlow.

The meeting is at 7.30pm in the council chamber at Harlow Civic Centre

CONTACT LENSES GO FREE IN TRI OF THE CENTURY

Contact lenses from Specsavers already have a reputation for being great value for money. In fact many people already regard them as a steal. But the big news is, they're now going free, in the trial of the century.

Options

Specsavers lenses are easy to wear, and there's a whole range of options to try. As well as standard monthly lenses, there are disposable lenses you throw away at the end of the day, or even continuous wear lenses you can sleep in, so there's no need to bother with solutions

After your free trial, if you decide contact lenses are for you, we've got a range of low price options with our monthly lenses starting from just £5 a month*

We suggest you call in or book online today, and set your own pair of lenses free.

Pathology opens up

MORE than 200 students and other visitors got under the skin of the medical profession when the pathology department at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital opened

Visitors were given a glimpse at the work of the team as part of National Pathology Week, observing samples being analysed, learning about dissection and finding out more about choosing pathology as a career.

They also toured the laboratories and visited the Clinical Skills Bus, where they got some real hands-on experience in first-aid skills and blood pressure monitoring.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell was also on hand to open a new high-tech laboratory. Pictured, above, are senior anatomical pathology technician Mark Nicolls talking with student Sophie Allcock and friend.

Raytheon safety award

DEFENCE firm Raytheon Systems has been given a pat on the back for its efforts in meeting health and safety standards.

The company, which has facilities in Harlow and Glenrothes, received a gold medal from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents after securing and holding onto gold level status for six consecutive years.

The medal is the second the firm has won; the first was presented in 2007 for its environmental safety performance.

Drew Cassels, head of facili-ties, property and environmental services at Raytheon, said the company was delighted to win the award and added it was committed to reducing the number of accidents and cases of ill-health at work.

Mum's health fears over mould misery

A DESPERATE mum-of-two fears she is on the verge of a physical breakdown because housing chiefs have refused to move her out of her mouldcoated council flat.

Lucy Groves (23), of Rundells, Harlow, has lost three stone in weight due to stress and says the health of her children – Demi and Charlie – is being affected because of the conditions in which they are living.

The state of the property is so bad that even her local ward councillor admits he would not stay there.

But despite constant complaints to Harlow Council, Miss Groves says she is still no closer to the problem being resolved.

The part-time fish and chip shop worker, who with partner Brad Horn (22) pays £240 a month in rent, said: "I can't even use the bath because of the steam moving the spores of mould, so I'm going around to another house to use their bath.

"I'm taking anti-depressants because of it and I'm losing weight. I ended up in hospital a few weeks ago because my body just gave up. I'm near to collapse. My children are constantly ill as well."

Miss Groves was moved into the flat in 2003 as a temporary measure until more suitable accommodation was made available.

When the Star first reported on her plight two months ago, the council said it would send a surveyor to look into the problem.

But still the mould remains and since then she has had to buy new kitchen appliances because a leak went into her electricity box and caused a fire.

Councillor Clive Souter, who has taken up Miss Groves' case, said he was working with the housing department to rectify the situation.

Asked if he would live there in its present condition, he said: "Personally, no".

A council spokesman said: "The property has been visited on a number of occasions and a report was received from Kier Harlow on Friday. We will be in touch with the tenant.

"We have no report regarding a fire."

Council pays out £250,000 on homeless

HARLOW Council has paid more than £250,000 to put people in temporary accommodation while they waited for a council house last year.

Figures released to the Star show £220,760 was spent settling bed and breakfast bells while £23,520 was spent on private sector leasing. Joshua Jolles, chairman of the council's housing committee, said: "We have very limited resources and over 7,000 people on the housing register. We have a housing stock of just under 10,000 homes and only 50-60 homes at any one time available for reletting. This has reduced from 200-300 several years "In the past year we have substantially reduced the number of people in bed and breakfast. In March there were around 28 households at any one time and this is down to four.

"Although there is little we can do about increasing the number of council properties available we have been working hard to increase the number of affordable homes to let. "We have also worked with private landlords to bring their properties back in to use which will reduce pressure on our properties and we are using former sheltered housing units that are no longer required."

Post Office

T seems an apt time, given that many rural Post Offices have been closed due to a perceived lack of demand, to look at one which closed near Harlow.

However, Silcocks Farm Post Office and shop, located in Epping Road on the outskirts of the town, was not closed due to a lack of demand but because of the unprecedented level of armed robberies it suffered. Rosemarie Welch lived on the farm when her parents Rose, pictured above, and Stan moved there in 1949, helping them with the running of the shop and post office until closure in 1997.

"When we first moved there there was no post office at all," she said. "Mum and dad didn't have very much money then and they went around the village and asked people if there was a post office, would they support it.

"It was hard work but they gradually built the business up and we used to do teas in the garden. There was a shop too.

"When mum was about 90, we gave it up because she wanted to stay there but couldn't cope. We were attacked a lot as well – 11 times while we were there because of the post office, so we closed it down. The farm remains owned by the family, but is now rented out. Sadly, Rose died six years ago, aged 93. Rosemarie added: "She liked it when she was there; she was a character.'

VETERANS gathered at By CHRIS MOSS Netteswell War Memorial on Sunday to pay tribute to their fallen comrades on the 90th anniversary of the end of the First World War.

The war heroes were joined by Harlow MP Bill Rammell, council chairman Tony Hall, local politicans and more than 500 residents in the Town Park to remember those who lost their lives in both world wars and other conflicts around the world in a dignified ceremony organised by the Harlow branch of the Royal British Legion. Following the two-minute silence and after wreaths of poppies were laid at the foot of the memorial, Legion members were invited back to the organisation's headquarters in Radburn Close for a smaller service during which they laid commemorative wreaths in the Remembrance Garden.

Branch secretary Valerie Fitz-John said: "It was encouraging to see so many people of all ages attending the service – it was the first time we have held it at the refurbished memorial and the day went very well.

"It is so important that we never forget the sacrifices made by those who fought in the First and Second World Wars and, of course, the ceremony has even greater resonance today, considering the ongoing conflict in Iraq.'

Council chairman Tony Hall said: "The service, particularly at the new site, was excellent. It was great to see so many members of the public

"The attendance grows year on year, especially the number of children. The cadets and the other service organisations put on a first class display which was moving and should give hope for the future."

THE Harlow League of Gentleman 95 held a special service for Armistice Day at the Potter Street war memorial on Tuesday.

Also in attendance to pay their respects were children from Fawbert and Barnard School, local residents and representatives from Safer Harlow Partnership and other commuity groups.

Pupils get a lesson of the horror of war

impact the First World War had on the inhabitants of Harlow during a day of living history on Tuesday. The event, which was organised by history teachers in the town and run at the Harlow Education Constorium headquarters in Waterhouse Moor, saw them visit a war memorial, dress up and handle authentic war equipment and read stories and diaries penned by soldiers on the frontline.

The day was arranged to coincide with Armistice Day, which this year marked the of the Great War, and ended with the children producing a collage of the various information they learned on the day.

41,000 homes Why move? just improve earmarked for town borders

PROPOSALS to build a further 40,900 By CHRIS MOSS homes on land surrounding Harlow have been submitted to regional planning chiefs by developers keen to capitalise on the extension of the East of England Plan.

Seven separate sets of proposals for further residential development on land to the north, east, south and west were submitted to the East of England Regional Assembly as it undertakes a review of the controversial planning blueprint to extend its scope until 2031.

The latest submissions are independent of existing draft plans for a massive housing development which could see up to 20,000 homes built north of Harlow.

Although two of the newly proposed developments – on agricultural land to the west and north – failed to meet the submission criteria, the remaining five will be studied closely for possible inclusion in the revised Plan.

Yet EERA regional planning panel chairman Derrick Ashley was quick to point out the examination of proposals did not mean the Assembly supported them.

"I want to stress that what has been published is a list of submissions from developers and it does not mean

Teens' club night is the hot ticket

A CLUB night to get teenagers off the streets and into the groove has been launched in a bid to tackle the fear of crime and reduce anti-social behaviour in Harlow.

Firefighter Craig Douglas hit youngsters in the town have nowhere to socialise, leaving many loitering on the streets and getting into trouble or giving the impression they are up to no good.

As part of his event, group More Than Life, which organises Live4Life which is set to be hosted at Bar 11 in Terminus Street twice a month.

Craig (30) said: "At times, I have come into contact with teenagers that have taken the wrong path in life as a consequence of boredom. resulting in arrest, severe injury or, even worse, death.

"I have walked through the Town Park many times and seen groups of teenagers playing with lighters, some starting small fires to keep warm whilst consuming large amounts of alcohol, some so intoxicated they fall asleep on the park bench, becoming vulnerable targets.

He added: "The youth of today receive bad press reviews. Headlines of gang wars and knife attacks are all we seem to read about but you didn't ever here of such things 30 years ago because there were organised dances in the local village hall, which was the place to be on a Friday night." The club night launched on Saturday and Craig hopes it will soon become the place to go for under-18s. Dance, r'n'b, trance and funky house will be played at the club, which operates a strict no drink or drugs policy.

"What we want to do is create a safe environment in which teenagers can have a good time," said Craig.

"The drop-off and pick-up point is right outside the club and marshals will be outside as well for the safety of the youngsters.

For a ticket to the next club night, send an email to live.4life2008@hotmail.com. log onto the website at www.myspace/4life2008 or join Facebook group 4life.

Wedding gifts aid victims of crime

HARLOW Council chairman Tony Hall and his wife Maureen have donated the £380 they received as wedding gifts to

The money given to the couple will be passed on to Mr Hall's nominated cause - Child Victims Of Crime.

"My wife and I decided to ask guests not to buy wedding presents but make a donation to Child Victims Of Crime instead," said Mr Hall. "At our age, we have accumulated most of the necessities and luxuries we could possibly need and we agreed that it was an opportunity to contribute to CVOC personally.

"CVOC is a charity that does great work for children who have suffered from rime and I'm sure they will put the money to good use. I hope local people will feel able to help me reach my target of £10,000 to help such child victims in Harlow."

To contribute to the charity, send a cheque made out to CVOC to Sue Felgate at the Civic Centre or donate online at www.justgiving.com/tonyhall1.

Furniture plea

A HARLOW charity is seeking unwanted furniture as part of a recyling project to help people in financial hardship. Rainbow Services' ReUse Project, at Latton Bush Centre, in Southern Way, collects good condition furniture and white goods in working order to pass on to people receiving benefits in exchange for a small delivery charge.

Rainbow Services director Jackie Sully said: "Hopefully, we will have the usual good response from local people for this appeal as the Harlow community has always been great in helping to support fellow residents who are in need of a bit of help and support."

The Rainbow ReUSe Project is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9am-3pm. If you would like to donate items of furniture, call (01279) 308151.

Raffle prize plea

ST Clare Hospice in Hastingwood is appealing for prizes for the giant tombola at its forthcoming Christmas fair.

Community fundraiser Vicky Parker said: "If you have any bottles you could spare or any other gifts we could raffle, spare or any other gitts we could raffle, please bring them to the hospice centre in Hastingwood Road, marked for my attention. We will be very grateful and all proceeds from the event will go towards quality care provided free of charge to local people with life-limiting illnesses in 2009."

The fair will take place at Great Pardon Community Association, in Staple Tye, on November 30.

Tory tirade at 'feudal' Beeb

By CHRIS MOSS mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE politician hoping to be the next Conservative MP for Harlow is calling for television licence fee payers to be given more of a say on the way in which the BBC is run.

Robert Halfon this week described the BBC as a feudal monarchy and claimed the publicly funded corporation had "put a straitjacket over every licence fee payer in the land" through its unwillingness to consult with the public over programming issues.

In the wake of recent public reac-tion to the Russell Brand and Jonathan Ross prank on Radio 2 and Top Gear presenter Jeremy Clark-son's comments about lorry drivers, Mr Halfon vented some of his frustrations at the way the BBC operates in a blog on the independent Tory website Conservativehome.com.

"If the BBC chooses to overpay its presenters, do we have any real say?" he asked. "If the BBC is biased, do we have any real right of address? If we feel the licence fee is too high, can we get it reduced? Of course not.

"The BBC has a monopoly, not just over broadcasting, but has put a

TURN OFF: Robert Halfon, left, believes licence payers should have more say in the running of the BBC in the wake of the radio scandal involving Russell Brand and Jonathan Ross, above straitjacket over every licence fee payer in the land. So how do we change this?"

Mr Halfon goes on to suggest that every viewer should be given a unique personal identification number and allowed to vote annually via the internet on everything from the quality of programming to the salaries paid its presenters.

Arguing that licence fee payers have no genuine stake in the way the corporation is run, he also proposed a shift to voluntary subscription to BBC channels and even advocated the abolishment of the licence fee altogether.

"Television viewers will not tolerate just being subjects of the BBC's feudal monarchy for much longer," he warned. "It's time to give us the

The BBC has been under increasing pressure for changes in the way it is run since Brand and Ross left messages on former Fawlty Towers actor Andrew Sachs' answering machine in which they made comments about his granddaughter, Georgina Baillie (23). Their antics were broadcast last month, prompting more than 30,000 complaints.

Jeremy Clarkson incensed lorry drivers by joking that they spent their time driving and murdering

Parents on alert after infestation of headlice

PARENTS are being alerted to an outbreak of headlice among scores of children at a Harlow school

Around 60 pupils in two classes at Abbotsweld Primary, in Partridge Road, have been affected in what headteacher Lesley Lynn described as one of the worse cases she has witnessed during her years at the school.

Now she is warning all parents to check their children's hair and to treat the problem immediately if they spot lice or eggs.

"I have been texting parents of pupils who have headlice or speaking with them face-to-face to ask them to treat their children because we can't, we're not allowed,"

"What we have been told by Essex County Council is that it is parents' responsibili-ty to deal with it. We can't comb a child's hair to look and we aren't allowed to do anything about it. All we can do if we see eggs or lice is to inform the parent and ask them to treat the problem. It is frustrating, but that is what we have to do."

Mrs Lynn said most par-ents had been co-operative but said it was important all parents heeded the advice.

She said all schools have outbreaks but added: "It's something which keeps happening over and over again. I'm sure if everyone did this then we wouldn't be having this problem."

VIP visitor praises pre-school

STAFF and pupils at a the Mulberry Green Pre-School welcomed a special visitor on Friday.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell dropped in to officially open the preschool following its move from the Church of the Assumption in Old Harlow to new premises on the site of Harlowbury School. The move means the pre-school has been able to increase its intake of youngsters. It currently accepts 30 children aged two-four years.

"I am delighted that this excellent facility has moved into premises where more space, both outdoor and indoor, will enable it to go from strength to strength," said Mr Rammell.

"Today is testament to the hard work of the staff who for 13 years have provided a valuable service to this Pre-school manager Shelagh Donavan said: "The new premises will mean greater partnerships between the pre-school and the primary school. We are also grateful for the fantastic new outdoor space."

THERE'S nothing unusual in finding your nextdoor neighbour's pet cat in your back garden, but imagine going outside to play and discovering a cheetah prowling around flowerbeds.

That was the shocking discovery made by a nine-year-old boy from Cambridge when he came face-to-face with the world's fastest land animal.

Toby Taylor was in his back garden when he spotted the big cat. He quickly ran indoors just as it pounced on his bike and started tearing up the saddle

It turned out the cheetah had escaped from a nearby zoo. Within a few minutes of raising the alarm, staff from the zoo arrived with the police to

They said the three-year-old big cat had escaped through a broken electric fence and claimed it wouldn't have harmed Toby.

The local council is carrying out an investigation into how the cheetah managed to make its escape, but zoo director Andrew Swales said the electric fence had now been repaired

"The cheetah wouldn't pose any danger and his reaction to strangers would be the same as a pet dog - either a friendly greeting or a guarded retreat." he added.

"I do not know of any cases of a cheetah attacking a human.

Cheetahs are native to the grassy plains of Africa and can reach speeds of up to 75mph when running. Sadly they are now an endangered species and only 10,000 of these majestic creatures are left in the world today.

Getting down to business

Bv CHRIS MOSS

A MONTH-long programme of recession-busting events designed to support enterprise and encourage new business in Harlow continues tomorrow (Friday) with a start-up surgery for aspiring entrepreneurs.

The drop-in event hosted by Business Link in partnership with Harlow Council begins at 11am in the Civic Centre. The aim is to provide information on all aspects of running a business.

The advice surgery is followed The advice surgery is followed next Wednesday by a full day of talks and workshops beginning with a Business Link seminar on self-employment at 11am, while Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce will be holding an afternoon networking event at Raytheon, in Elizabeth Way, from 4.30pm.

The Harlow Town Centre Partnership then hosts a presentation on ship then hosts a presentation on inflation and interest rates by the Bank of England's deputy agent for the south east and East Anglia at the Civic Centre from 6-7.45pm.

The following day – Thursday – the Civic Centre hosts a Start Your Own Business Day where representatives from organisations including Harlow Council, The Prince's Trust, The Federation of Small Businesses and Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce will be on hand to offer advice and information.

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "Business success is essential for the prosperity of any town and as a council we are determined to give our local companies all the support we can

"With the support available in the town to help new and existing busi-nesses grow and with the new start-up and small business centre in Edinburgh Way opening soon these are very good times for enterprise in Harlow."

 Places for the talk by the Bank of England repsresentative are limted and booking is advised. Call 0845 685 0010 to reserve a place

... as shop openings help to weather storms of recession

THE signs that Harlow is weathering the recession have been highlighted by the arrival of three new stores

Lingerie shop La Senza and Lucy Winters, run by local businesswoman Lucilla Ferraro, have already opened in the Harvey Centre while home furnishing specialists Linens Direct will open shortly.

Ms Ferraro is co-owner of Party Place on the second floor.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said: "We've announced some good new openings from national retailers recently and now it is fantastic that a regional business like Lucilla's is demonstrating the confidence to expand.

"It demonstrates what we've been saying for a while now, that Harlow and the Harvey Centre are better equipped than most shopping destinations to weather the financial crisis.

"It is without doubt that it is our diverse tenant mix that benefits the centre during these harsh economic times. We have top end retailers such as M&S alongside middle range retailers like Bhs and budget stores like Wilkinson's and Primark. This means that our shoppers can have a complete choice without having to repark their car.'

In September the town was shown to be bucking the impact of the credit crunch by rising in popularity with retailers and shoppers which saw it leap 38 places to 189th place out of 407 districts in the UK Competitiveness Index

A FAMILY have lifted a weight off their minds after shedding five stones in four months.

Robert and Debbie Spurgeon and their daughter Megan (15), of Great Leylands, Harlow, went on a diet to shed the excess pounds.

Weighing in at a combined 40 stone, Debbie (45) became depressed and wanted to help Megan shed the excess weight which saw the teenager tip the scales at 10 stone. Now they say they have never felt better.

"I have dieted all my life and I noticed that when Megan was walking she was getting out of breath," said Debbie. "We all needed to do it but for us all to be able to do it as a family was really good." The new look has even inspired Robert (43) to give up smoking and Debbie to start swimming again. Megan is enjoying her svelte new shape after previously struggling to get into her own clothes. Slimming World co-ordinator Donna Cecil-Smith, who helped the Spurgeons get rid of the weight at weekly sessions, said: "I am amazed with Megan because she has found it so hard before and she really worked hard.

"They have been on diets before and have been trying to lose weight for years but they have really got on well with this."

Proudly present an evening with....

Paving way for bypass

SIR, I note Robert Halfon's letter to the Star (Letters, October 23) regarding Labour's campaign for a new Harlow bypass and I write to clarify some of the issues he raises from a county council perspective.

As I am sure Mr Halfon is aware, the refresh process for the transport regional funding allocation is where the Government invites advice from the regions regarding specific transport priorities. Prior to this, regions will consult with counties as to their views. Based on regional advice, the Government will take decisions on how the money should be spent

While the Government may only be offering warm words at this stage, this is absolutely appropriate. The deadline for regional advice is February next year and we are lobbying for this scheme in the correct way. At a full council meeting last month, I raised with Norman Hume, county council portfolio-holder for transport, how county would be submitting their advice to the region.

The transport regional funding allocation process is a mechanism for long-term strategic planning and for the county council it is of huge importance in achieving county transport priorities, which include the M11/A414 link road. These are transport projects which will take over 10 years to deliver and we have always been clear that this is a long-term improvement

While Mr Halfon is correct that new housing does not necessarily guarantee transport improvements, the case for building the bypass would be considerably weaker without the new Harlow North development. And with a finite amount of money, especially in the current climate, there needs to be clearly identifiable priorities based on need. Harlow North achieves this.

Furthermore, the schemes submitted to be part of the regional funding allocation refresh will total more than any Government is willing to spend in our county. Harlow North offers possible contributions from private developers to supplement the scheme

Just recently tenants received a letter from the head of housing advising that the new tenancy agreement

Labour's memory lapse

negative.

SIR, I must take issue with comments made by former Labour councillor Michael Danvers (Letters October 30). It is not the new Conservative council that has lost the plot but his party and the Liberal Democrats who joined his party in the previous joint administration.

They can offer no constructive opposition and forget what they carried out in the previous administration. Some of their councillors do not even stand on the arrival of the chairman of the council at full council meetings, which is usual protocol.

As Mr Danvers is fully aware as a member of a previous administration, it was they who thought to change the date of the town's annual firework display. As an ex-buyer for the Inner London Education Authority, I fail to follow his statement that it is cheaper to hold the event on a Sunday than on November 5.

No shelter on a Sunday

SIR, I read with great interest the article regarding the funding of improvements to the town's bus station, presumably by Harlow Council (Star, October 23).

Hopefully, the council can make arrangements to have the bus shelter open on every Sunday, especially as winter is now with us. The shelter in question has been closed every Sunday for at least 12 months.

Harlow hits the switch

HARLOW'S Christmas shopping season gets underway this weekend with a vastly expanded lights display and the town's biggest ever Christmas launch.

Former EastEnder Michelle Gayle and Gladiator Trojan Mark Griffin, stars of this year's Harlow Playhouse panto, join street entertainers, musicians, reindeer, an authentic fairground organ, candy floss, hot roasting chestnuts, Punch & Judy and a wide variety of stalls in the town centre, from the Water Gardens through the Harvey Centre, Broad Walk, Market Square and West Square on Sunday. The Broad Walk lights and main

Christmas tree will be switched on just after sundown, following a "Glow Stick" parade of children, animals and adults which will wind its way through the town centre to the Market Square at 4.15pm. The parade is open to all children of any

The reindeer and other animals will be on display in The Water Gardens all afternoon and there will be a constant stream of entertainment on stages in the Harvey Centre and Broad Walk

Says town centre development manager Richard Dennery: "We have planned lots of excitement and surprises, with panto stars, the Harlow Town Football Club, Ten-17 presenters and other local celebrities joining Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall on the main stage for the countdown. Expect the unexpected. This year's Christmas lights display is greatly improved on previous years, thanks to contributions from Harlow Council, Essex County Council, the town centre partnership, Harlow Renaissance, GSK, Kier Harlow, Pitney Bowes and many local retailers.

Says Mr Dennery: "This is the first year in a five-year plan to make Harlow's Christmas lights display among the best in the country.

The "Harlow Christmas Cracker" will also see the launch of the town's first ever "Shoppers' Guide", a 56-page signpost to food, entertainment and shopping in The

The weekend kicks off on Saturday with large scale fun fair rides arriving in West Square and other fairground attractions along East Walk. It continues on Sunday with the main event.

Charity and community groups as well as other exhibitors will line Broad Walk with their stalls

Business Link, the blood pressure testing, lifestyle advice and stroke awareness van and Essex Police will all be on hand to listen and lend advice.

Hot Motown night was sweet as a honey bee

I CAN'T help myself, I love the music of Motown.

My wife and children think I'm a hopeless case, stuck in a time warp; I've even been to Hitsville USA, the Detroit recording studio where Berry Gordy first set up the classic label nearly 50 years ago.

Of course, I hit back at the taunting by pointing out one indisputable fact - that whenever you're at parties/discos/dances, the one type of music that's always guaranteed to fill the floor is Tamla Motown. No argument, it's true, Motown is feelgood music with a thumping beat and unforgettable, sing-along

So when The Motown Show hit town on Friday, it was a chance for fans of all ages – and Motown spans the generations – to celebrate the golden anniversary, and celebrate we did

The auditorium was packed as the four young American singers who make up the show belted out their favourite classics.

Good individual voices gelled as a foursome to bring the voices of Levi Stubbs, David Ruffin et al and the collective harmonies of the Detroit superstars back to life to get us dancing in the aisles.

The obvious Temptation is to say that Four Top voices came together for an excellent performance, but I'll avoid that. Suffice to say that the singers, backed by a tight-knit and enthusiastic band – particularly the joyous horn section – rolled back the years in terrific style. Even the wife was bopping.

Life can become a bit stressful now and zen

AS the credit crunch continues to bite, energy costs spiral and global recession seems all but inevitable, it's only natural for many of us to feel a bit stressed-out at the moment.

But what if there is light at the end of this interminably gloomy tunnel? What if there is a way of life that could improve your health, decrease your stress levels and help you to help others?

It may sound too good to be true, but one man believes his spiritual teachings can do all of these things and much, much more.

Dechan Jueren, China's top zen Buddhism master, will be appearing at The Playhouse Studio tonight (Thursday) to impart a little of his age-old knowledge to an inquisitive audience in a public lecture which promises to be as entertaining as it is enlightening.

The only master in modern times to hold the two major Buddhist lineages of esoteric and zen, he will apply his wealth of wisdom and understanding to everyday problems to illustrate how his teachings can help anyone deal with the stresses and strains of daily life. Believed by some to be the reincarnation of a high spiritual leader in a 1,700-year-old tradition, he has been honoured by Buddhist leaders from around the globe and was a keynote speaker at the UN Millennium Conference in 2000.

Event organiser Paul King first met Dechan Jueren in Hawaii in 2006 while studying Chinese medicine. After being blown away by the zen master's teachings, he invited him to the UK to take part in Essex County Council's Jiangsu Festival.

"Most people have heard about zen and Buddhism but they do not know very much about them or what relevance they have to modern life," he said.

"Dechan Jueren will explain zen using everyday examples and show how these ancient methods can help people deal with the stresses of daily life.

"His powerful healing energy and wisdom means that everybody can benefit from these talks, regardless of their ways printing open propriets."

their own spiritual experience.

The talk begins at 8pm and tickets are $6 ($5 concs) from (01279) 431945. All proceeds will go towards organisational costs only

ART The fourth anniversary of the opening of The Gallery at Parndon Mill is being marked by a new exhibition, Present Arts, showcasing works by many of the artists who have helped make the venue a success, comprising paintings, sculptures, jewellery, ceramics, textiles and glasswork. The free exhibition runs until December 23.

MUSIC Musical legends including Elvis Presley, Roy Orbison and Buddy Holly will be rocking from beyond the grave tomorrow (Friday) when tribute act Rockin' On Heaven's Door makes a return to The Playhouse. Look out for an explosive version of Jerry Lee Lewis's Great Balls Of Fire – let's just say the clue's in the title! The show starts at 8pm and tickets are £17.50 (£16 cones) from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC The UK's most popular MUSIC The UK's most popular country music extravaganza rolls back into The Playhouse on Saturday with a brand new show for 2008. Nashville Nights & Dixie Days has been wowing wannabe cowboys around the country with more than 60 favourites from the likes of Johnny Cash, Don Williams and Garth Brooks. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £14 (£12 concs) from (01279) 431945.

PERFORMANCE Artist Wayne Lloyd presents an interpretation of right-wing author Ayn Rand's novel The Fountainhead, the story of a brilliant architect who refuses to play by any rules but his own and which was filmed in 1949 with Gary Cooper. A 'map' of the story is drawn as the artist recounts it as an oral history, and a comic book will be available to take away at the end. The free performance is in Barnabas Hall, in Playhouse Square, on Saturday at 2pm.

DRAMA Tickets are now on sale for Harlow Theatre Company's adventurous adaptation of Beauty & The Beast, at Victoria Hall Theatre in December. Written and directed by Paul Johnson, the production promises to give the classic fairytale a magical Christmas makeover. Tickets can be reserved in advance from (01279) 420062 and cost £7.50 (£6 concs), and the first performance will be on December 10.

Seeking vengeance is a Payne-ful experience

"I DON'T believe in Heaven. I believe in pain, I believe in fear, I believe in death," growls the titular, gun-toting hero at the beginning of John Moore's tiresome video game adaptation.

Audiences will certainly believe in pain – and boredom and frustration – as the vengeance-seeking cop plods wearily through a plot straddling reality and drug-induced fantasy on the crime-riddled streets of New York.

First-time screenwriter Beau Thorne sketches a familiar tale of murder and redemption without any of the excitement or relentless, adrenaline-pumping action of the source material.

He opens with the supposed drowning of the main protagonist then flashes back one week to chart the events leading to Max's tumble into the frozen water.

The twists, if they can be called that, are signposted so far in advance that it becomes laughable characters can't see what's staring them in their blank faces.

Mark Wahlberg is inexpressive as the eponymous good cop on a mission, shooting first and thinking later, if at all, as director John Moore builds to a lacklustre showdown on the rooftop of a skyscraper in the middle of a snowstorm.

Police officer Max Payne (Wahlberg) returns home to find his wife Michelle (Marianthi Evans) and baby daughter slain by an intruder.

Unable to rest until he unmasks the killer, he scours every open case file until a tip-off leads to a nightclub where he meets beauty Natasha (Olga Kurylenko) and her sister Mona (Mila Kunis).

When former dies in an alleyway, Max is framed for the gruesome killing and has to try to clear his name, outrun the cops and find the real culprit. Fans of the games will recognize characters and certain plot elements, and it also employs slow-motion bullet time effects to bend the laws of physics.

Supernatural elements drawn from Norse mythology necessitate a blitzkrieg of CG effects which provide a welcome respite from the eternal gloom.

ZACK AND MIRI MAKE A PORNO

certificate 18, running time 1h41m

ALMOST 20 years ago, Rob Reiner's seminal romantic comedy When Harry Met Sally... posed the age-old question: can men and women truly be friends without sex getting in the way?

Writer/director Kevin Smith considers the same question in this hysterical relationship comedy, which is every bit as filthy-minded and profane as the title suggests.

Yet for all the obscenities and perversity, Zack And Miri Make A Porno is incredibly sweet and romantic as it brings together two best friends who love one another – they just don't realize it yet.

This is truly a return to sparkling form for Smith; a spunky and salacious companion piece to Clerks and Chasing Army that manages to walk and talk sex without seeming sleazy.

Characters are willing and impressively able participants in the sauciness, so we laugh with them and not at them as they overcome budgetary restrictions and myriad misfortunes to give their all in the name of low budget enterprise.

Whether their eponymous misfits are behaving like drunken fools at a high school reunion or wreaking havoc in a bathroom that's just run out of water, we adore them and wait expectantly for the moment destiny opens their eyes to their true feelings.

The story starts when childhood pals Zack (Rogen) and Miri (Banks) can't afford any of their utility bills and are months in arrears with the rent.

In a moment of genius masquerading as desperation, Zack hits upon a novel solution to their cash flow problems – they could make an adult film.

sound check with Chris Moss

IF the great Joe Strummer was still here, he'd be bristling with pride if he took the time to listen to the easy-skanking debut EP from Essex dub soldiers The Summons. Like The Clash, Alternative TV, PiL and a select few before them, half a bag of green and an old copy of Bob Marley's Greatest Hits wasn't enough for this rag-tag bunch of skinny white boys to express a genuine passion for all things reggae.

passion for all things reggae.
Following the tried and tested formula of guitar, drums and bass of their second-wave ska heroes, they've somehow managed to strip the tired sub-genre of the kind of limp-wristed, cod-reggae pretensions practised by preening peers like Hard-Fi and summoned up a rocking roots revival of their very own.

Title track Wasteland takes its cues from The Specials' seminal Chost Town, awash with eerie dub guitar, Strummer-esque social commentary and a rumbling, hypnotic bassline that even Jah Wobble would be proud of.

In The Sky and the sublime Something In The Sky and the sublime Something In The Water are likewise executed with neargeometric precision, the latter coming on with the vim and vigour of Foals' marauding math rock mixed with a refreshing dash of post-colonial calypso. Rounding off nicely is the funktastic, stop-start jitter-punk of Sign Of The Times — a breathless, skittish soul-jazz lament that sounds like the Dead 60s with Tourette's. To get your hands on the EP, a little bird tells me the band will literally be giving them away after their next live performance at The Green Man, in Royston, on November 29

Agent 007 returns, all guns blazing, in the action-packed follow-up to Casino Royale, set in the immediate aftermath of the blockbusting 2006 film. It pales next to its predecessor, lacking a next to its predecessor, lacking a compelling lead villain or coherent storyline. Daniel Craig's lead performance is cold and aloof; his Bond is in danger of severing all ties to everything that made us fall in love with the super-spy back in 1962.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL 3: SENIOR YEAR The ultra-perky Disney Channel phenomenon takes a bow on the big screen for the first time, inducing the same sort of high-pitched hysteria in young fans as the glory days of Westlife and Take That. Boyishly-cute leading man Zac Efron is the star attraction of this feelgood fantasy, alongside real-life girlfriend Vanessa Hudgens, as the movie bids a tearful farewell to most of the actors who have made the series a toe-tapping success.

JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH

(Entertainment In Video, PG, retail & rental)

After a couple of short-lived flourishes in the 1950s and '70s, it's good to see 3-D enjoying a major revival. Following the jaw-dropping, in-your-face excitements of Beowulf, this new take on Jules Verne's classic adventure uses the latest 3-D technology to reel viewers into one lavish set-piece after another as scientist Trevor (Brendan Fraser) ventures deep below the Earth's crust with his nephew and a foxy Icelandic guide in search of his long-lost brother.

Forget all you know about physics and plausibility because this is one big, fun visual romp once the trio tumble down the rabbit hole to find themselves in a world of giant fungi, underground seas alive with fanged fish, carnivorous plants and, oddly, just the one hungry T-Rex.

Fraser's perfect for this kind of thing, pretty much transplanting his jaunty, square-jawed hero from The Mummy series and able to keep the various plates of romance, nurture and action spinning evenly throughout. It's also a nice post-modern touch that Verne's original novel effectively acts as a guidebook to the stranded subterranauts.

Director Eric Brevig's background as a visual effects artist is apparent in the lush fantasy environments, and that's certainly no bad thing for a movie whose chief pleasures are intentionally visual rather than

This two-disc set features the film in both conventional and  $3\mbox{-}D$  formats and includes two pairs of special glasses plus a commentary and several featurettes.

HOURGLASS SANATORIUM

(Mr Bongo Films, 15, retail

If David Lynch's Eraserhead is the closest cinema has come to mapping the disturbing territory of a nightmare, Polish director Wojciech (The Saragossa Manuscript) Has' 1973 Hourglass Sanatorium must stand as its equal in terms of capturing the roiling brew of memory, nostalgia and fantasy that distil into dreaming.

Taken from the Kafka-esque works of Bruno Schultz (who was murdered by the SS in 1942), it's a sumptuously shot stream-of-consciousness affair beginning with Józef (Jan Nowicki) arriving at an incredible decaying mansion of broken windows and choking vines to visit his dead father, who still lives in this place where time stands still.

Time runs backwards too, and Józef goes with it to journey through the surreal Wonderland of his mind, crawling under a bed to emerge in the Hasidic village of his childhood, bantering with sexually alluring female authority figures, bickering with what might be his childhood self and meeting historical characters preserved as automatons of blood and clockwork before wending his back through the corridors of time to his present.

Not one to watch for narrative coherence, this is best enjoyed by simply letting it unfold in front of you and taking what you can from it, from the tone of unease and absurdity to the beautiful cinematography and elliptical script

WAR REQUIEM

Effectively an 85-minute classical music video for Benjamin Britten's War Requiem, which uniquely blends the Latin Mass For The Dead with the work of First World War poet Wilfred Owen, Derek Jarman's fitful 1989 film veers between heartbreaking poignancy and, occasionally, an excess of artsy indulgence.

Composed of harrowing archive film and staged vignettes featuring Sir Lawrence Olivier (Old Soldier), Tilda Swinton (Nurse), Sean Bean (German Soldier) and Nathaniel Parker (Wilfred Owen), it seeks to capture the lost innocence, horrors and futility of 20th century warfare.

Swinton is simply mesmerising but, overall, the dramatised sequences pale before the sheer emotional devastation of the montages of actual footage.

Extras include an engaging and illuminating commentary by producer Don Boyd, a documentary of interviews and a feature on the 2008 performance of Britten's War Requiem in Liverpool and Cologne.

BARAKA

(Second Sight, PG, retail)

Another visual feast this week is Ron Fricke's restored 1992 film Baraka, its title a Sufi term translating as 'blessing' or 'breath of life'.

Fricke was the director of photography on Koyaanisqatsi and this transcendental, uplifting xperience sits admirably alongside it as breathtaking footage from 24 global locations weaves majestic panoramas of deserts, mountain ranges and rainforests into exotic wildlife and human society in all its diversity, from time-lapse shots of harried commuters to Balinese singers performing the Kecak monkey chant, tranquil mystics and exotic shamen. Baraka is an overwhelmingly rich experience which grows steadily more hypnotic as it progresses, saying much about planet Earth without uttering a word. Simply magnificent.

Extras in this two-disc set include the documentary Baraka - A Closer Look and a feature on the painstaking restoration process

THE RING FINGER

(Second Sight, 15, retail)

Ukrainian beauty and new Quantum Of Solace Bond girl Olga Kurylenko stars in this odd little 2005 psychosexual drama which invites comparison with The Secretary and, superficially, some of Peter Greenaway's more esoteric films.

Losing the tip of her ring finger in a factory accident, Iris (Kurylenko) finds work in a bizarre lab which preserves and stores anything people bring in, from facial scars to sheet music.

Sharing a room with a sailor whom she never meets due to their conflicting shift patterns, she slides into a curious fetishistic relationship with her detached employer, beginning with his gift of a pair of stilettos he insists she never removes.

It's intriguing enough to begin with and creates a gentle aura of weird, dreamy eroticism but disappointingly drifts off into a confusing variation on the Bluebeard story at the climax.

has let five of the eight units on the second phase of Dukes Park counter scheme.

The company is acting for RO Developments Ltd.

Phase One comprises a Lok'nStore self-storage unit, which has already become a landmark buildina Edinburgh Way, Harlow, at the heart of the retail and trade counter area of this expanding town.

The existing tenant line-up City Plumbing Benchmarx includes Supplies, Kitchens Joinery. Toolstation, Tile Giant and The Plumbing Place and the trade park is now open for business.

Agency director, Simon Beeton reports strong interthree units from a single occupier, leaving just Unit 3 comprising approximately 3,500 sq ft available for immediate occupation.

Ideally, the agents are seeking another trade counter operator and are particularly keen to secure either an electrical wholesaler or a company selling safety supplies.

Phase Three, comprising a total of 1.5 acres, is also available on a design and build basis or as development land.

The owners will consider splitting the site from approximately 0.5 acres offering a rare opportunity owner occupiers or those seeking a large proportion of open area for parking or open storage.

Putting Children and Families First

The National Childminding Association is helping to change the shape of childcare and Early Years services in England and Wales. We are in an exciting period of change and are looking for individuals with the drive, vision and expertise to give exceptional results.

Working closely with your team manager, you will support the development of childminding services to raise the quality locally and integrate the care provided with other childcare and early education services

These are full-time positions (36 hrs per week), currently based at Broomfield near Chelmsford, but relocating to offices in County Hall, Chelmsford in 2009. You will need to be flexible in your outlook as some evening and weekend work is required as well as regular travel within Essex and occasionally nationally. Experience in the Early Years sector and the ability to deliver adult training would be an advantage.

Childminding Development & Network Co-Ordinators x3 £21,843

Duties and responsibilities will include:

- Developing and supporting childminding services in Essex.
- Ensuring network childminders meet the high standards expected of them, through assessment and monitoring their practice
- Working closely with Children's Centres to encourage childminders to link with their local Centres, and support the development of childminder "drop ins".
- Promoting high quality practice to all childminders, ensuring they have easy access to training.
- Promoting and encouraging the take-up of training opportunities available for childminders and other home-based childcarers.
- Developing and implementing local recruitment and retention initiatives in order to raise the profile and level of provision of home-based childcare, and to contribute to the local childcare sufficiency review.
- Please quote reference RE117/118/119.

Childminding Development Workers x2 £21.843

Duties and responsibilities will include:

- Offering support, guidance and advice to all childminders and prospective childminders.
- · Providing information about accredited training and support and quality assurance schemes.
- · Assisting in identifying areas with insufficient childcare provision.
- Supporting childminders through the registration process including pre registration briefing/monitoring sessions.
- Providing new childminders with business support
- · Assisting childminders in the promotion of their service.
- Advising childminders in the sustainability of their business including accessing appropriate sources of funding.
- · Assisting in the identification and development of training opportunities, and deliver training for childminders to aid professional development as required.
- Please quote reference RE120 / 121.

Fighting Motor Neurone Disease

Motor Neurone Disease (MND) is a fatal disease of the brain and central nervous system. It leaves people locked into a failing body, unable to move, walk and talk. The mind is usually unaffected. In the UK, five people die of MND every day.

The MND Association exists to ensure that people with MND can achieve the highest quality of life possible, and to fund and promote research to bring an end to MND. We have over 3000 active volunteers, 130 staff and an annual income of £12m. The MND Association has the following vacancies

Regional Care Development Adviser

Hertfordshire & Essex

Salary circa £29,000 (under review) plus car + benefits, 37 hours per week These posts may be office or home based

Additional resources have enabled us to review and reconfigure the areas in which we work resulting in a new post and further opportunities to improve outcomes for people with MND and their carers across England and Wales.

As Regional Care Development Adviser you will be involved in promoting and securing the highest standard of care for people living with MND and their carers through influencing statutory services and raising awareness of their practical and psychological needs amongst health and social care professionals. You will have regular contact with people affected by MIND and be able to apply this knowledge to champion their needs with service providers and to provide educational opportunities within your area. You will have a key role in co-ordinating and delivering the Association's influencing strategy in your region.

It is essential that you have a health or social care qualification, experience of working with the health/community care sector and an understanding of the impact that a terminal condition has on the lives of people affected. Experience in promoting and managing educational opportunities and of working with volunteers would be advantageous.

You will be part of a highly motivated regional team, working single handed on a day-to-day basis, with excellent interpersonal communication skills and the ability to self-manage. You will be required to live within the designated region.

'Rams must win next two league games'

Enfield Ignations 24, Harlow 15 (RFU London division three north east)

PAUL Eynon is determined that the lowly league games.

Harlow are second from bottom in the 12-team table and face 10th-placed Saffron Walden at home in two days before taking on basement side Norwich away in

Two victories would push Harlow up the table and the Harlow captain said: "We have got a lot of talent but have not been getting results. I want us to get four points from the next two games. It will kick start

He added: "Lee Harron will be coming back this Saturday and that will give us a lift. Walden are organised and I expect it will be a good game – it could be end to end stuff." end stuff

Paul Humphries returned to the Rams line-up at Enfield Ignatians five days ago. He played at outside centre, while James McFerran was retained at fly-half after impressing there.

The Rams went behind in the second minute. A kick ahead by the hosts saw the ball go over the visitors' try line and Enfield were awarded a try which was converted.

Humphries cut the hosts' lead to 7-3 on the quarter-hour mark.

Enfield scored a converted try before Harlow pulled a try back close to half-time. A good chip ahead from McFerran bounced favourably for Humphries and he squirmed round the final defender to score an unconverted try.

Despite an early penalty after the break, Harlow stayed in touch until the Enfield wing raced through from a clever short line-out. This try was converted, putting the hosts 24-8 ahead on 65 minutes.

Eynon said: "We had been dominating the line-out. It was a well-made try. They should be congratulated for that."

Harlow's persistence was rewarded when Ricky McKinley scored a try from a driving maul, converted by Humphries.

HARLOW: Grimley, Webb (Woodington 50), Humphries, Morgan, Vanbeck, McFerran, Fitzpatrick, Webb, Wilkins, Branch (Roberts 55), Hawkins, Barnard, McKinley, Covington, Eynon.

Revenge so sweet for Harlow U-14s

PAST results were put to one side as Harlow Rugby Club's U-14s beat their Sudbury counterparts 29-0 at home.

The Suffolk team are one of the better teams in the Eastern Counties League and had beaten the Rams twice last season but Harlow out-played the visitors on Sunday. Four of Harlow's five tries came from rucks and mauls

Jack Boswell-Banks crashed over from 20 metres for the first try. Kurtis Knightley kicked the conversion.

Harlow led 14-0 at the break. Skipper Zac Chamnaouie started and finished a move from a scrum to touch down and Knightley kicked the conversion. The second half saw three unconverted tries with the first two coming from forward dominance as Matt Smith and Andre Riddell got the touchdowns.

Josh Davies wrapped up the scoring with a try from a backs move.

Harlow Colts, missing a few first choice backs, lost 27-0 at home to Woodford.

Harlow U-17 player Danny Smith made his colts debut at outside centre.

Woodford built up a commanding lead, scoring four tries and one conversion to go 22-0 up at the break.

Young Rams restricted the visitors to one unconverted try in the second half.

Club's bad weekend

IT was a bad weekend for Harlow Hockey Club as there were heavy defeats for the premier men's and women's teams.

The men lost 13-2 at promotion-chasing East London in division three south east of the East Hockey League, while the ladies had only nine players when they lost 8-0 at Havering in the premier division of the Essex Women's League.

Harlow Tn O, Macclesfield Tn 2 - FA Cup first round

Macc to reality

REALITY rather than romance prevailed as Harlow Town's dreams of extending their FA Cup run were ended by League Two club Macclesfield Town at Barrows Farm.

Saturday's first round tie was the town's biggest sporting event since Harlow hosted Barnet in the first round of the competition in the 1981-82 season and most of the 2,149 crowd were fervently hoping for an upset.

But it was not to be as a well-drilled Macclesfield side proved stronger on the ball. Nat Brown and Danny Thomas were influential in midfield in very different ways.

The Hawks defended nobly but Silkmen had done their homework. Creative players Leon Lalite and were stifled while the Green hosts desperately missed suspended top scorer Jamie Richards.

He would have offered a threat and this emphasised how much a Non-League club need ALL their top players if they are to have a chance of causing an

The crowd were buzzing and Harlow's fans were in excellent voice but the first half failed to live up to the build-up: a scrappy encounter enlivened only by the odd attack

After Hawks skipper James Bunn blazed an early chance over, Izak Reid was allowed space outside the home box before his shot was deflected wide.

Soon after, a free-kick from ex-Bishop's Stortford player Ahmed Deen fell to Brown, whose goal-bound shot was nodded away by Danny Chapman.

At the other end, Bunn's cross from the right found

Tashan Adeyinka who shot wide at the near post.
The Hawks also threatened near the half-hour mark

but Bunn headed wide.

Thereafter, Macclesfield got on top and were denied on 37 minutes when keeper James Hasell blocked Reid's shot.

Harlow started the second half brightly before their big moment came and went on 55 minutes.

Lalite passed to Bunn who held off a defender before setting up Adeyinka. The 17-year-old had just Macclesfield stopper Jon Brain to beat from nine yards out but he miscued his shot and the home crowd winced.

The visitors broke the deadlock on 65 minutes. The impressive Simon Yeo exerted pressure on Hawks defender Beckett Hollenbach who conceded a needless corner and Deen's flag kick saw Shaun Brisley rise above two Harlow defenders to head in.

On 73 minutes, Adeyinka was booked for a foul on Dunfield and shortly after this, Harlow's first shot on target - a 25-yard effort from Mark Taylor - was Harlow changed their formation leaving three at the back as Hollenbach came off for new signing Ollie Allen – the son of ex-Spurs striker Clive Allen – making his first team debut up front.

On 83 minutes, Yeo broke down the left but shot wide of the far post.

The issue was settled on 86 minutes. A throw on the right was flicked through to Dunfield, whose low 22-yard shot beat Hasell at the right post to break Harlow's hearts.

HARLOW TN: Hasell 6, Taylor 7, Hollenbach 5 (Allen 78), Chapman 7, Kear 7, Kirby 7, Lalite 5, Fowler 6, Adeyinka 5 (Charles 83), Bunn 6, Green 6. Subs not used: Lampe, Tague, Gliddon, Query, Hardy (gk).

Alexander just pleased to edge through

KEITH Alexander commended underdogs Harlow Town after Saturday's FA Cup first round tie at Barrows Farm.

The Macclesfield boss said: "It was a difficult place to come to. Harlow Town are a decent team and are quite comfortable on the ball.

"We could have got beaten if we had not been prepared. We are pleased with how we did.

"You are not going to have 90 minutes without the opposition creating a chance. I thought we defended well in the first half and stood up to the physical side of the game and the crowd." Harlow fans will always remember Tashan Adevinka's failure to break the deadlock on 55 minutes but Alexander stressed it came after his side missed chances.

"We already had had one or two good chances in the first half," he said.

Terry Dunfield scored the second goal which clinched the tie and the Macclesfield midfielder's relief was palpable. "We have been struggling of late and it went right for us. We needed that second goal to get through," he told Star Sport.

"After we had gone ahead Harlow were still in it and it was great when it went in," he added.

"They [Harlow] worked hard as a unit and we knew that we had to struggle for every ball. They made us work hard especially in the first half."

He added: "In the end we took two of our chances and all the best to Harlow for the rest of the season. It was a great day.

Macclesfield's reward - along with the £20,000 prize fund a home match against Port Vale in the second round.

can spark play-off bid

KEEPER James Hasell feels that the Hawks can build on their FA Cup run and challenge for a play-off spot in the Ryman premier division.

Harlow Town only narrowly avoided relegation last season but the custodian says they can progress.

Speaking shortly after Harlow's defeat to Macclesfield, Hasell told Star Sport: "There is no reason why we cannot get to the play-offs. We have games in hand. We have played good sides and got results. There is nobody to fear.

'We have had the basis of the side for some time and we have had some good young players come through. We are in a stronger position than last year.

Hasell was proud of what Harlow have achieved in this season's FA Cup. There were some disappointed lads in there but we should be proud. We cannot be too hard on ourselves. We have put the club on the map and in the national press," he said.

"They [Macclesfield] were organised and we never got going in the last third. Their keeper did not have many saves to make, but I felt 2-0 flattered them."

He added: "They train full-time five or six days a week. We train two evenings a week and work from nine 'til five as well."

Analysing the goals Harlow conceded, Hasell commented: "You live or die by your decisions. The corner [for the first goall was difficult.

"I had too many players in front of me

[to collect the ball] and it came in at the last moment with the wind and their player lost our marker and had a free header from six yards.

"We conceded the second goal going for the equaliser. We had nothing to lose and had changed the formation.

Hasell praised the fans for their support and offered sympathy to Tashan Adeyinka who missed a great chance to put Harlow ahead.

'The fans were superb for us today and it was nice to see the place full up. They have been great in other games like Crowborough and Burgess Hill," he

Chairman's praise for Harlow fans

Cont'd from back "Seventy per cent of them had not been to the new stadium before," he said.

"Our aim was to get to the first round this season. At 2.30pm it was great to see the great support in the main stand."

He added: "There were disappointed faces in the dressing room afterwards. I have just said to them nobody in the team can say they let the side

"It was our cup final and it was excellent to get to where we are today.

"The fitness told in the last 20 minutes and we were punished for our mistakes. I have had lots compliments and the Macclesfield people were impressed."

Morgan does not see the day in isolation.

He said: "We are working very hard and today is a stepping stone to future success and that will happen. This has put us on the map and Dave Edwards [a former Harlow Town manager] said it was like old times here today.

"I want us to get to mid-table this year. There are promising youngsters coming through like Danny Green and Paul Kear. The squad will change at the end of the season.

"Ryan Kirby is a great ambassador for the people coming through the ranks." Morgan also praised the work of volunteers who carried out a tremendous amount of work to ensure Saturday's match was such a success. "The work of Billy Shaw, Jim Aldridge and Steve Clark was fantastic," he said.

Glenn Hoddle was due to attend but on the day of the match was still in pain after a back operation and had to miss out. He was represented by his uncle Dave Hoddle, while Brighton & Hove Albion striker Gary Hart, from Harlow, was there despite being on crutches following a

Hawks record wins on successive days

HARLOW Hawks Basketball Club claimed two solid wins on consecutive days at Baddow Eagles (77-86) and at home to Circus Houghton Raiders (74-57).

The National Founders Cup east region group match at Baddow on Thursday was marked by controversial refereeing.

Hawks had a good start and led 22-10 at the end of the first quarter but the second period was marked by some scrappy play and the visitors were 40-31 up at half-time. The Chelmsford side enjoyed an 18-4 run in the third period before Hawks recovered and went into the last quarter 59-52 ahead and held on to win by nine points.

Hawks scorers were: Jessop (33), Freeman (13), Niaz (11), Maitland (10), Sharma (9), Haddow (8) and Allan (2pts). In the Herts League division one clash against Houghton on Friday, the hosts went 8-behind before a three-pointer by Paul Jessop woke Hawks up and they led 19-16 at the end of the first quarter.

Adderson (Moot House Arrows), Andy Booth, Dave Galloway (White Admiral), Dicky Foster, Andy Tapscott (Servo Hawks) – Ourshots 116 Alex Hogg (CC Whites), 113 Alan Hance (Stow Snooker).

CC Whites have switched venues to Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club and will be now known as TG Whites.

Other results: Servo Hawks 5, CC Colts 4; CC Foxes 4, Young Pretenders 5; Moot House 5, Moot House Arrows 4.

Nat's England call-up

HARLOW College student Natalie McClarnon has been picked for the 34-strong England U-20 women's rugby squad. Ex-Harlow Ladies ace McClarnon (18), who joined Saracens Ladies in the summer, will be hoping to impress and gain selection for an international match against Wales in McClarnon has captained the Essex and Eastern Region U-18 teams for the last two seasons so is used to this standard and will be working flat out to win her first England cap. Having made the national U-20 squad at 18 she has the advantage of two seasons at this level before moving on to try for her ultimate goal of making the senior national team.

HAWKS player-boss Ryan Kirby praised his side after two second-half goals ended their marvellous run in the FA Cup.

"They gave their all and still caused one or two problems towards the end. It was a battle right the way through," he said. "They [Macclesfield] were very well organised and very strong.

Kirby felt the turning point was the chance for Tashan Adeyinka when the game was poised at 0-0. "At any level you have got to hit the target and make the keeper make the save.

"A goal [for Harlow] would have been a turning point. The [Macclesfield] second goal was a breakaway. It was a great finish. It was a killer blow."

But the former Arsenal, Doncaster and Aldershot centre-half was delighted with his side's efforts. "It was a great performance. They [Macclesfield] are full-time and professional. The Hawks played seven matches in this Cup run in total, including two relays. The club have made £27,500 from the FA Cup but would have made £20,000 if they had qualified for the second round.

However, gate receipts from Saturday's first round tie – in which the record crowd at Barrows Farm was shattered – will perhaps soften the blow.
